

The Maryland State Highway Administration (SHA) is proposing to redevelop the existing Cambridge Maintenance Facility located at the intersection of MD 750 and Handley Road in Dorchester County. The proposed redevelopment consists of demolition and reconstruction of office buildings, garage and storage facilities, and a salt barn. The reconstruction project would reconfigure the site to allow for more efficient use of the facility.

The project site is located partially within the Critical Area for Atlantic and Coastal Bays and will require approval by the Critical Area Commission.

The following properties will be affected by the proposed project:
